NEWSLETTER

December 2009

2010 is almost with us. Will Rural economies improve? Don't count on it!

In our trade, large overseas cartels have taken a major controlling share in the industry (a vision Roger Douglas would be proud of).

How could this be good for us? It's Not!

Cartels have no feeling for local production. They purchase and trade as they see fit, the consumers money is transferred off shore at ever increasing speed, never to kiss a NZ hand again. Is this the way forward?

Purchase NZ grown and help save the nation.

Garden Centre

Tasks for December

- Store all this years tulips, daffodils, and hyacinths bulbs in a cool, airy place.
- Provide consistent moisture and shade to young seedlings..
- Mulch your vegetable garden to conserve as much moisture as possible.
- Mulch with sawdust, compost, and grass clippings.
- Remove spent flower heads from flowering plants for extra flowering later on.
- Increase autumn flowering by pruning your chrysanthemums.

Vet Naturals Fly Repellent

A mutual collaboration between a top Equine Veterinarian and a renowned Herbalist, both with over 20 years experience in their respective fields, has resulted in the Vet Naturals range of products.

The Fly Repellent is the first product in the range and has filled the need for a natural deterrent to flies and biting insects. A chemical free environment is the desire of most horse owners around their animals. The formula is safe for all animals, especially dogs, and it is also great for people.

It contains: Tea Tree Oil, Citronella Oil, Rosemary Oil, Lemon Oil, Lemon Tea Tree Oil.

Vet Naturals Fly Repellent is available in an aluminium trigger spray 1 litre bottle. To improve economy, there are also now available two sizes of refill packs 2 litre and 5 litre. Due to the nature of essential oils, and the fact that it is a trigger spray and not a compressed aerosol, it is important to shake the bottle before use.
